WHAT IMPACT, IF ANY, WILL THIS HAVE ON BUDGET, FACILITIES/SPACE, FACULTY, ETC.

This course will form part of the graduate offerings in Linguistic Anthropology that addresses requests of graduate students to develop linguistic anthropological courses that could be directly integrated into theses and dissertation topics for graduate students in Archaeology and Physical/Biological Anthropology. It will also be of value for graduate students in linguistics and mathematics.

JUSTIFICATION FOR ACTION REQUESTED

The purpose of the department and campus-wide curriculum committees is to scrutinize course change and new course applications to make sure that the quality of UAF education is not lowered as a result of the proposed change. Please address this in your response. This section needs to be self-explanatory. Use as much space as

CATALOG DESCRIPTION:

ANTH F659 Language and Prehistory

3 Credits Offered Fall Even-Numbered Years

What can we learn about the past through the comparison of languages? This course surveys the theory and methods that use linguistic data to reconstruct prehistory. We will study the evolutionary frameworks of case studies that make efforts to integrate the subfields of computational methods of phylogenetics. Prerequisites: Graduate Student Enrollment or Permission of Instructor. Cross-listed with LING F659. (3+0)

COURSE GOALS

The goal of this seminar is to engage the study of prehistory through the application of linguistic methods. Students will become familiar with the history of this field, its successes and its

STUDENT EVALUATION:

Students will be evaluated on the bases of class participation, reading responses, homework/practical exercises, leading two seminar meetings, a research paper, and a long presentation of research results.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

~~Class participation: Students are expected to attend class regularly and arrive on time~~

There are typically 3-5 reading assignments per week that are required, as well as Grading is based on the following scale. No pluses or minuses will be given:

60-69% D
59% and below F

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY:

Plagiarism is a form of cheating in which you use anyone else's ideas and/or words (not published or personally communicated) without proper citation of the source. Whether from a printed source, the Internet, a lecture or a friend or family member, you must cite the source properly, if you got the idea from someone else—and this is true even if you are not using the Source's exact wording. Be aware of the University's policies on academic dishonesty.

When academic dishonesty is documented on any assignment or exam, you will receive a zero and the matter may be turned over to the Dean of Students for inquiry, with a failing grade in the course.

You should familiarize yourself with the Student Code of Conduct

DISABILITY SERVICES:

The University of Alaska is committed to providing equal access for students with disabilities. If you experience a disability and will need special accommodations, please contact me during my office hours.
